Candidate Briefings

A candidate briefing is a meeting between a job candidate and a representative of the hiring company. The purpose of the briefing is to give the candidate an overview of the position and the company, and to answer any questions that the candidate may have.

Our unofficial guide to candidate briefings will help you:

- Prepare for the briefing by researching the company and the position.
- Dress professionally and arrive on time for the briefing.
- Be prepared to answer questions about your qualifications and experience.
- Ask questions about the company and the position.
- Follow up with the hiring manager after the briefing.

Patient Briefings

A patient briefing is a meeting between a patient and a healthcare professional. The purpose of the briefing is to provide the patient with information about their condition, treatment, and prognosis.

Our unofficial guide to patient briefings will help you:

- Prepare for the briefing by writing down your questions.
- Bring a family member or friend to the briefing for support.
- Listen carefully to the information that is provided.
- Ask questions if you don't understand something.
- Follow up with your healthcare provider after the briefing.

Mark Schemes

A mark scheme is a document that provides guidance on how to grade an assessment. The mark scheme will specify the criteria that will be used to assess the candidate's performance, and the number of marks that will be awarded for each criterion.

Our unofficial guides to mark schemes will help you:

- Understand the criteria that will be used to assess your performance.
- Practice answering questions in a way that will maximize your score.
- Identify your strengths and weaknesses so that you can focus your preparation.
- Ace your assessment!
