In Her2 Positive Breast Cancer Kuroneko, author Sarah Kurpinski shares her intimate and inspiring journey through diagnosis, treatment, and recovery from breast cancer. Sarah was just 25 years old when she was diagnosed with Her2 positive breast cancer, an aggressive form of the disease. Despite the challenges she faced, Sarah never gave up hope. She underwent a grueling course of treatment, including chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery, and she emerged from the experience with a renewed appreciation for life and a deep desire to help others.

Her2 Positive Breast Cancer Kuroneko is a powerful and moving memoir that will resonate with anyone who has been touched by cancer. Sarah's story is a reminder that even in the darkest of times, there is always hope. Her courage and determination will inspire you to never give up on your dreams, no matter what obstacles you face.

What is Her2 Positive Breast Cancer?

Her2 positive breast cancer is a type of breast cancer that is characterized by the overexpression of the human epidermal growth factor receptor 2 (Her2) protein. Her2 is a protein that helps to control the growth of cells. When Her2 is overexpressed, it can lead to the uncontrolled growth of cancer cells.

Her2 positive breast cancer is more aggressive than other types of breast cancer, and it is more likely to spread to other parts of the body. However, there are a number of effective treatments available for Her2 positive breast cancer, and the prognosis for patients with this type of cancer has improved significantly in recent years.
