There are a number of ways to kill mice and rats, including:

- Traps: Traps are one of the most effective ways to kill mice and rats. There are a variety of different types of traps available, including snap traps, live traps, and electronic traps.
- Poisons: Poisons can be used to kill mice and rats, but they should be used with caution. Poisons can be dangerous to humans and pets, so it's important to follow the instructions on the label carefully.
- Shooting: Shooting is an effective way to kill mice and rats, but it should only be done by experienced shooters. Shooting is not recommended for use in homes or businesses, as it can be dangerous.

The best method for killing mice and rats depends on the severity of the infestation and the location of the rodents. If you have a small infestation, you may be able to use traps or non-lethal methods to get rid of the pests. However, if the infestation is severe, you may need to use poisons or shooting to kill the rodents.

There are a number of things you can do to repel mice and rats from your home or business, including:

- Sealing up entry points: Mice and rats can enter your home or business through even the smallest cracks or holes. Sealing up these entry points will help to prevent the rodents from getting inside.

- Using natural repellents: There are a number of natural repellents that you can use to keep mice and rats away from your home or business. These repellents include peppermint oil, cinnamon, and cloves.
- Keeping your home or business clean: Mice and rats are attracted to food and garbage. Keeping your home or business clean will help to reduce the number of rodents that are attracted to your property.

The best repellent for mice and rats depends on the severity of the infestation and the location of the rodents. If you have a small infestation, you may be able to use natural repellents to keep the pests away. However, if the infestation is severe, you may need to use more aggressive methods, such as sealing up entry points or using traps.

If you have a severe infestation of mice or rats, you may need to get rid of the pests by trapping them or killing them. There are a number of ways to trap or kill mice and rats, including:

- Using traps: Traps are one of the most effective ways to get rid of mice and rats. There are a variety of different types of traps available, including snap traps, live traps, and electronic traps.
