

Listening With My Eyes: A Journey Through Art and Illness

In her memoir, Listening With My Eyes, Maryanne Raphael tells the story of her journey of coming to terms with her deafness and finding new ways to connect with the world around her. Raphael was born with normal hearing, but she began to lose her hearing in her early 30s. By the age of 38, she was completely deaf.

Raphael's journey through deafness was not easy. She struggled to accept her new reality and to find ways to communicate with the hearing world. She also experienced depression and anxiety. But through it all, she found solace in art.
